

Three Sophs Win Council Elections

Three sophomores and a junior were elected officers of the Student Union for 1953-54 during balloting April 14 and 17.

The lone junior was Chicagoan Hugh McAvoy, reelected Union and Council president. McAvoy was unopposed for election and drew 392 votes.

Nine write-in candidates split a total of 13 ballots between themselves.

John Quinn, sophomore from Oak Park, defeated a fellow "hometown boy," John Englehart, in the vice-presidential race on the second ballot. Four men vied for the post, but none could muster a first-ballot majority. The two high men, Quinn and Englehart, then faced each other in the second voting. On the first ballot, Quinn was top with 129, Englehart trailed with 109, and Murray Sims and Bill Feely followed.

On the second ballot held Friday noon in the cafeteria Englehart narrowed the gap to 18 votes, but lost out, 147-129.

Reelected as secretary was another Chicagoan, Maurie Garvey. Garvey overwhelmed his opponent, Jerry Walke, 220-94.

One ballot was enough for Berwyn, Ill., soph Jim Zid to defeat his two opponents, Buel Adams and Pete Higgins. Zid, sophomore class president, garnered a 187 total, Adams pulled 75, and Higgins 57.

All voting except Friday's vice-presidential run-off was held in the rec hall April 14 from 9:30 a. m. until 7:00 p. m. Election Committeemen were Roland Meinert, Bernie Boff, Larry Schmit, and Jim Griffin.

130 of NF Attend Regional Congress

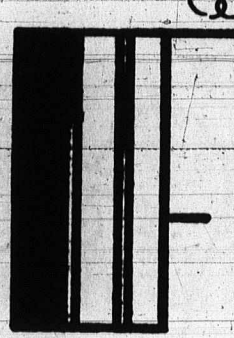

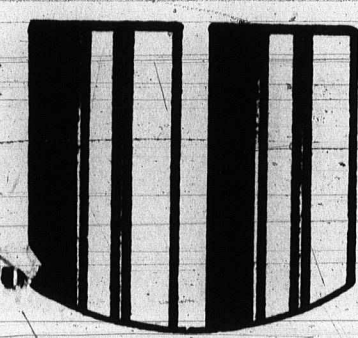

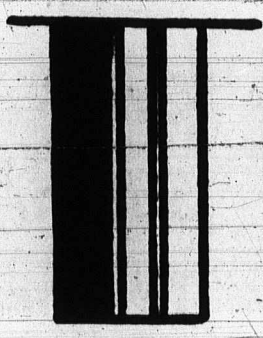

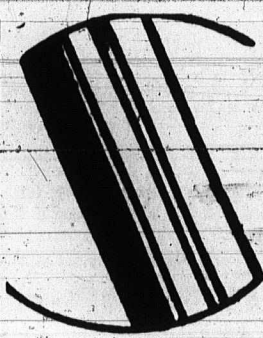

Some 130 delegates from the eight schools of the Fort Wayne region of the NFCCS, attended the annual regional congress held April 18-19 on the St. Joe campus. Preceding the congress was the fifth regional council meeting of the year, held Friday evening, April 17. Council delegates from St. Joe were regional president Miro Pregeli, senior delegate Don Netols, junior delegate Ken Ryan, press chairman Buel Adams, and science chairman Frank Holzer.

The regional congress was opened at 1:00 p. m. Saturday, April 18, by the welcoming address of Father Henry Martin, local NFCCS moderator, and council president Hugh McAvoy. Msgr. Arthur F. Bukowski, president of Aquinas College, Grand Rapids, Michigan, gave the invocation. Msgr. Bukowski also offered the 8:00 o'clock Mass on Sunday morning.

The principal speaker of the congress was Miss Betty Schneider, director of Chicago's Friendship House. The theme of Miss Schneider's address corresponding to the theme of the congress was "The Pontiffs Speak to the Students." She discussed the reorganization of society along the lines of the papal encyclicals.

Various panel discussion were held throughout Saturday afternoon, and at 7:00 p. m. Saturday evening the nominations committee chose a slate of candidates for the regional council officers. Following the committee meeting, a social was held in Raleigh Hall for the attending delegates and the St. Joe students.

At 9:45 a. m., Sunday, the closing session was held, during which the new regional council officers were elected. The results of the elections were Harry Hadlock, Notre Dame, president; Jane Michael, St. Mary-of-the-Woods, vice-president; Elaine Frederick, (Turn to Page Two)

Exhibits, Programs Highlight Parents' Day Slate Sunday

Hammond Organ Possibility For Auditorium

A Hammond organ in the College Theater may be a reality before the end of this school year.

At present the St. Joseph's College Fathers' Club is working on a fund to purchase the $4000 instrument in time for the graduation ceremonies June 7, when Cardinal Stritch, the first of his rank ever to visit the campus, will speak. The fathers hope to have the organ as a memorial of the cardinal's visit.

The organ will be electric and will require no maintenance. It can be put to good use in Glee Club and band concerts, recitals, plays, pep rallies, convocations, assemblies, graduations, and other important occasions.

The Mural Room of Chicago's Morrison Hotel will be the scene tomorrow at 1:00 p. m. of the annual spring card-and-bunco party held by the St. Joseph's Mothers' Club. The affair has been changed from an evening to an afternoon gathering this year.

Proceeds from the party will be used for improvements on campus. A long list of prizes has been assembled, and the mothers indicate that they hope to fill the 200 tables in the Mural Room.

Chairmen of the card party are Mrs. Edna E. Flynn and Mrs. Louise Gillen. Mrs. Tad O'Connell is ticket chairman. Entertainment plans were discussed recently at the home of the club president, Mrs. Samuel Governale.

Clubs and Organizations Display Wares to Public

A full schedule of events is planned for the annual Parents' Day program, Sunday, May 3. This year, performances and exhibits by the local clubs and organizations will highlight the day.

To open the day's program, an extra High Mass at 10:30 p. m. will be said. At 12:45 p. m., the Puma baseball squad will take to the diamond to engage the Lewis Flyers; and at 2:00 p. m., the college promotional movie, "Freshman Focus," will be shown in the College Theater. The film is a 20-minute presentation.

The Band and Glee Club will present a concert at 3:00 p. m. in the fieldhouse. St. Joe president, Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, will deliver a welcoming address to the parents at this time.

Closing ceremonies will be at 5:00 p. m. in the chapel. Benediction will be followed by a May procession to the grotto. At 7:30 in the evening, the Columbian Players will present "The Hasty Heart" in the College Theater.

The registration of visitors will take place in the library. Throughout the afternoon the campus will be open for tours.

Another feature of the day will be exhibits in the library by the campus publications: STUFF, PHASE, and MEASURE; a liturgical exhibit; a display by the Society of the Precious Blood; and bird photographs by the Rev. John W. Baechle.

auxiliary bishop of Kansas City. Bishop Marling, a graduate of St. Joseph's, is the only bishop in the United States who is a member of the Society of the Precious Blood. The honorary degree is the tenth in St. Joe history.

Prior to this, Bishop Marling celebrates a Pontifical High Mass in the chapel at 11:00 this morning. Bishop John Bennett of Lafayette is present in the sanctuary and many monsignori and priests both alumni and those from nearby parishes are also in attendance.

Al Olechna will next make his debut as trumpet soloist in Leroy Anderson's "Trumpeter's Lullaby." The band will come back with the Finale to the Fifth Symphony ("New World Symphony") by the Czechoslovakian composer Anton Dvorak.

Afterwards, in more solemn mood, the band will play Olivieri's "Hall of Fame," a concert march. Virgil Gelormino will debut as sousaphone soloist in "Solo Pomposo" by Hayes. An operetta selection—the overture from The Red Mill by Victor Herbert—will follow.

The program will close with Paul Yoder's "Rambalita."

Awards Presented

Highlight of today's activity is the conferring of a "doctor honoris causa" degree on the Most Rev. Joseph M. Marling,

CP's on Stage For Third Time In Patrick Play

The Columbian Players will present their third production of the school year Sunday, May 3, in the College Theater. The chosen presentation is John Patrick's "The Hasty Heart."

The play will be given only the one night. All seats will be reserved. Arrangements for tickets and other information about the play may be found on page 4. It is directed by Mr. John J. Kirby and has a cast including Miss Beverly Sterrett, Dick Kotheimer, Jack Carlson, Buel Adams, Joe Konkel, Jim Meyering, Chuck Lenertz, Don Stazy, and John Good.

It is the first three-act presentation since last year's "Othello." The running time is a little over two hours. Set construction for the play has been handled by Mr. Kirby's Play Production class; the scene is a British military hospital in the Southeast Asia Command.

"@*#&@ BIRDS!"

BUT NO REVIEW

On May 3, the Columbian Players will present a three-act comedy-drama, "The Hasty Heart." On May 6, this newspaper will next be published. It will not print a review of the play, as matters now stand.

The reasons for this departure from (and we shudder at the term) "tradition," is due to an apparent misconstruction of the aims and purposes of such a review by certain of the Players' personnel. As far as we can remember, STUFF has always viewed and commented on the actors' productions. Good points, bad points—all were listed and an evaluation was made. Sometimes, as was the case with last year's "Man Who Came to Dinner," the critic saw and approved heartily; other times, as was the case with this year's three-play bill, the critic saw and held his nose. But there always was a review.

Now, this year's critic has been persuaded by the director not to review the play, on the grounds that the critic, having had no experience in the dramatic field, is incompetent to judge acting ability or the worth of a play accurately. This in itself would not dissuade this paper from foregoing the criticism, but the critic has asked not to be requested to review it and his request will be granted. At present no plans are being made for a successor.

Perhaps the basic cause for this severance from past performance is, as was mentioned above, a faulty construction of the frame of mind in which the criticism was written. All readers should note that STUFF reviewers (and there have been many) have never claimed to be all-knowing beings in the thespian field. They do not even claim to be basing their remarks upon comparison with past performances. Briefly, a STUFF play review has always been, unless stated otherwise, one man's opinion of the production—whether he personally liked it or not, and why.

Most of the time his opinion coincided with that of the student body as a whole, for he was himself a student and saw the play from a student's viewpoint. Whether the play had been awarded three gold medals or a brass manhole cover made no difference to him; he viewed what was occurring on the stage and wrote an evaluation of what he saw. He did not delve into the deep psychological implications of the play, unless they were apparent from the acting. His was a subjective bit of writing, based solely on the worth of what he could see.

Personal prejudices do, of course, weigh heavily. Perhaps this year's reviewer is more demanding in what he thinks college performers should produce, in contrast to some of this paper's previous critics. But a bad review should not cause anyone to request that the writer not criticize another performance publicly. This is almost tantamount to saying: "Either compliment us or don't say anything." We do not believe in such one-sided coverage.

So it is that you will see in our next issue a factual news report of the play's having been performed. But, unless matters change, no review.

Grad Named South American Titular Bishop

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. Danahy, a 1933 graduate of St. Joseph's, and administrator apostolic since 1948 of the Pando vicariate in the jungle region of northern Bolivia, has been named Titular Bishop of Bitu. Bishop Danahy was ordained a Maryknoll priest in 1939.

Bishop Danahy was consecrated this morning at 10:00 o'clock at Holy Innocents' Church, Manitowoc, Wis. Consecrator was the Most Rev. Sergio Pignedoli, titular bishop of Iconio and apostolic nuncio to Bolivia.

Co-consecrators were the Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, bishop of Green Bay, and the Most Rev. Leo A. Pursley, auxiliary bishop of Fort Wayne. The Most Rev. Charles H. Helmsing, auxiliary bishop of St. Louis, delivered the sermon.

Native of Fort Wayne

A native of Fort Wayne, Bishop Danahy attended parochial schools there and in Benton Harbor, Mich. His mother now resides in Manitowoc. In addition to attending St. Joseph's, he studied also at Sacred Heart Seminary, Detroit, and St. Gregory's Seminary, Cincinnati, before entering Maryknoll in 1934.

After his ordination he served on the faculty of Maryknoll Junior College, Clarks Summit, Pa., until his assignment to Bolivia. His mission territory covers nearly 40,000 square miles, much of which is still unexplored, and has a scattered population of 50,000.

Went to Bolivia in 1942

Bishop Danahy was one of three pioneer Maryknollers who began mission work in Bolivia in 1942. Under his direction a number of projects to raise the living standards in the impoverished Pando have been started in recent years.

In one locality Maryknollers are inaugurating a boarding school to train leaders for a program which includes an experimental farm, animal husbandry, rubber plantations, and sawmill operation. Elsewhere they run a social center which carries on a full recreational program, operate a free dispensary, and conduct an orphanage for boys, the only such institution in the entire jungle region.

Organize Cooperatives

They have organized cooperative communities, introduced new crops and plan to start a sawmill, sugar mill, and plantations for growing coffee, chocolate, and vanilla. Maryknoll sisters staff an up-to-date hospital that provides the only medical assistance in its area.

Commented the Rev. James Quinn, editor of Our Sunday Visitor's Lafayette edition:

"Bishop Danahy was an excellent student at the college. But what remains brightest in our memory of those days was his all-around performance on the basketball court and on the playing fields. When he drove in for a lay-up shot we thought he was going through the wall of the old St. Joe gym. He will also be remembered for hitting a home run through the window of what was then known as Turner Hall, no mean feat."

SHAVINGS

By ED BYRNE

AT LEAST ONE prominent newspaper in Ireland was extremely embarrassed when it printed a picture showing a number of well-known American Catholics presenting an award to Graham Greene as the author of the most distinguished Catholic novel of the year. The novel in question was The End of the Affair, and the newspaper in question had refused to review it, since "this was not a book which it cared to bring to the notice of the Irish reading public." And so the old problem of Irish censorship has again stirred up the stardust on the Emerald Isle. And in defense of the Irish attitude has come John D. Starnes, who writes in

Books On Trial that "the issue concerns a particular kind of book—the kind that raises Irish eyebrows but brings down the house in England and America."

Hurling some delightfully subtle barbs at us Americans, he comes to the conclusion that, granted some books are absolutely bad, "there is . . . such a thing as a book which will edify people brought up in one environment and disedify people brought up in another." To illustrate his point, he uses a rather interesting comparison between American and Irish advertising practices. The Irish variety, he says, "might be hung up in a convent school without giving uneasiness to nuns or pupils." But in America, many advertisements have as a basic theme "the almost undressed female figure." "You Americans," he concludes, "apparently have grown quite used to this state of affairs, and may have developed a certain immunity. We haven't—as yet."

"We for our part," he admits, "might learn to be a little more tolerant with authors who touch on aspects of life and of evil that we usually avoid." "But perhaps," he suggests, "you on your side have gone to the opposite extreme and have come to believe that any book which shows a human soul torn between good and evil is necessarily a good book, and that, as long as you do not leave God out of the picture, everything goes."

RETRACTION OF DETRACTIONS: It seems my recent column met with more than the usual disfavor, so in fairness to all concerned—or at least to as many as we can remember—we clarify the points in question. In the first place, Joe Walinchus is not running a taxi service, according to himself; and, secondly, he is not an ex-member of the Columbian Players, but only an inactive member. Then, too, in spite of word from sources within the group concerned, it is not true that a truck was unavailable for SMW's play festival. The conflict arose, according to a loyal Player, because the group was working on its spring production. And, finally, we extend our sincere apologies to the ladies of St. Francis, Joliet. Due to a misinterpretation of information given us, we described them as "not quite as impressed by Collegeville masculinity" as were the girls of another college. On the contrary, the girls in question "simply drool over the boys from St. Joe." It's quite understandable, and we thank them for the compliment!

DUST IN THE CORNER: Charlie—always good for news—Rohan, decked out in what's presumably "the Continental manner" during the NFCCS Congress . . . Father Banet presenting a fine display on the Church's attitude on Science . . . Bernie Horn willing to take all comers in pinochle after holding 1000 Aces and 800 Kings within a week . . . Father Maziarz glorying in the goodness of God, who has brought him a '53 Ford . . . Tom VanAcker planning to conclude a lovely romance in favor of wedded bliss . . .

"What I have written, I have written," Pilate said. And so it stands with me until informed to the contrary!

Pindell, Schummer to Face Cards

The Grapevine

By JOHN WOLFE

With the weatherman giving them the right atmosphere, head coach Joe Pawlowski and assistants Dick Scharf and Bob Prymski are sending their football charges through their spring workouts. A lot of hustle and spirit has been instilled in the small group of 25 who reported to the new coach. There is only one way the Pumas can go after last year's poor season, and this is up. And we sincerely hope Coach Joe's the man who can do it.

The all-sports banquet will be held in the college cafeteria on May 13, according to an announcement by Father Edward Roof. No guest speaker has been selected as yet.

Valparaiso has been added to the St. Joe tennis schedule as a home opponent on May 16. The opening match with Indiana State, scheduled for April 16, has been called off because of the failure of both teams to get in enough practice sessions.

Although Chicago University's baseball team could hardly be considered a formidable foe, the two games definitely gave observers a general idea of what can be expected of the Pumas this year. The offense, as was expected, is potent, and the defense, which cost the Pumas a few ball games last year, was a pleasant surprise to Coach Jim Beane. It was also evident that Joe Pindell and Ted Ashburner are two starters that Mr. Beane can depend on if their opening performances mean anything at all. Willie Kellogg and Bob Lavender are two very capable utility infielders and will be pushing Bill Schulte and Dick Doherty all season long. The defensive gem thus far was the fine throw uncorked by Maurie Garvey from center field to end the opening game. Don Merki has improved his throw from behind the plate as evidenced by the one man who tried to steal on him. He was out by a good five feet.

The offense left little to be desired as Bob Wasni led a barrage of 20 hits in the double win over the hapless Maroons. His seven-for-eight and seven runs batted in gave Coach Beane an indication that he has found a reliable clean-up man. He can now move Ralph Meyer, who had three-for-six, including two doubles off Science Hall, into the number three position, where he can get a chance to hit more. Dick Doherty banged out three hits in as many times at bat, sending him off on the right foot in college ball.

The two victories achieved against Chicago surpasses the St. Joe win total over the past two seasons.

A corksball league is being organized. Anyone wishing to enter a team should see "Duke" Meinert, who is the commissioner.

Pitching, Hitting Stars Sparkle In Double Win

By DICK OBERGFELL

The St. Joe Pumas stormed to a twin victory over the Chicago University Maroons via some good hitting and pitching in their season opener April 11. Result: Pumas, 9-18; Maroons, 4-4. Bob Wasni, Skip Meyer, and Dick Doherty furnished the big bats while Ted Ashburner and Joe Pindell were effective on the mound.

Clutch hitting and wide-awake base running gave the Pumas the victory in the opener. "Smoky" Smolar opened the game with a single, went to third on Doherty's sacrifice, and scored on Meyer's one-baser. Wasni then walked and followed Meyer home on Maurie Garvey's long two-bagger.

Chicago Scores

Chicago picked up two runs on two hits in the second. With two outs Levine singled and scored on Gordon's round tripper.

St. Joe picked up three more tallies in the fourth, two of which were unearned. Don Normandt opened with a walk, went to second as Bill Schulte got on by an error, and scored as Smolar forced Schulte. "Smoky" then stole second and scored on another single by Doherty. Meyer walked and Wasni got the second one-baser of the inning, driving in Doherty.

Wasni Konks Triple

Jim Beane's crew ended their scoring with a 3-run sixth frame, thanks to Bob Wasni. Smolar and Doherty singled and scored as Wasni sliced a long, curving triple to right. A wild pitch allowed Bob to score.

Two singles and three walks accounted for the Maroons' final markers. Gordon singled and was out on a fielder's choice. Ashburner then passed Hamilton, Garcia, and Utley, forcing in a run. Mann singled, driving in Hamilton for the final run of the game.

Ted Ashburner was credited with the win; he walked six and struck out five. Hamilton was charged with the loss.

In the second contest the Pumas hopped on four Chicago pitchers for 18 runs and 10 hits. They started their drive with four runs in the initial inning. With two out, Garvey walked, went to second on a wild pitch and scored as Meyer slapped a two-bagger off the wall in right field. Tom Dudeck, who took over behind the plate for this game, then singled, driving in Meyer. Don Gorman, Willie Kellogg, Buck Lavender, and Joe Pindell all walked, forcing in two runs.

Meyer, Dudeck, and Wasni accounted for three Puma runs in the second. Meyer hit his second double deep into right field and scored on Wasni's single. Dudeck then doubled in Wasni, went to third on an infield out and scored on an error.

Single Scores Two

Pindell's wildness was the reason for a pair of Maroon tallies in the third. Broyles, Frankenfeld, and Garcia were given free passes, and Mann drove a single to center scoring two runs.

Buck Lavender accounted for the Pumas' lone tally in the third

Puma Veteran and Frosh Prospect Renew Baseball Battles Against State

By JOHN WOLFE

Coach Jim Beane has selected Joe Pindell and Pete Schummer to battle Ball State's Cardinals in today's double-header at St. Joe. This will be the first real test for the Pumas. Chicago U. did not show much in the way of baseball know-how, giving St. Joe a chance to get itself set for its ensuing Indiana Collegiate Conference battles.

Golfers Top Bellarmine

Father Joseph Smolar's golf squad opened their season successfully April 11 with an 11½-6½ victory over Bellarmine College of Louisville at the Brook Country Club. It was the Kentucky school's first match in intercollegiate play.

Low man for the day was freshman Merle Effing, who tallied six points for the Pumas. Completing the local foursome were Tom Powell, who scored 3; John Lillig, with 2½; and Tom Paonessa, who failed to notch a point.

The next contest for the linksmen will be this Friday at Wabash College. Saturday they host Chicago University; Monday, the Pumas play at Evansville. On May 2, a three-way meet with Valparaiso and Indiana State is scheduled at Valpo. May 9, Indiana Central will furnish the competition here; and on May 15, both the ICC and Little State titles will be played off at Valpo (LaPorte).

as he walked, stole second, and scored on Krantz's error.

Bob Wasni's single and home run showed the way for the Pumas in the fourth. He led off with a single and Dudeck walked. Tom then went to third on a wild pitch, while Wasni scored. Willie Kellogg next drove a smash into the leaves in deep left field for a ground rule double scoring Dudeck. Mann bobbled Lavender's roller and all hands were safe. Smolar drove Kellogg in with a single and Garvey walked, filling the bases. When Meyer also drew a pass, another run came across. Then came Bob Wasni's grand slam homer off Gaspar Hall, which accounted for four of the inning's eight runs.

Hit On Arm

The visitors came back with two counters in the fifth. Pindell hit Utley on the arm, and Mann followed with a round tripper to conclude the Chicago scoring.

St. Joe finished up with one run each in the fifth and sixth innings. In the fifth, Kellogg was passed, took second on an infield out, and came all the way around on an outfield error. Meyer walked in the sixth, stole second and raced home on Wasni's two-bagger.

Joe Pindell turned in a beautiful three-hitter, walking four and striking out four.

Pindell, a consistent starter, is being counted upon by Coach Beane to be a front-line hurler along with Ted Ashburner and Jim Couture. Schummer, a freshman from Detroit, has showed a lot of promise in early workouts, but he faces a tough assignment in his first taste of collegiate competition. Ball State has a fine team and has notched five victories so far this year.

St. Joe next travels to Butler to engage the Bulldogs in a doubleheader April 25. Then they journey to Chicago for a return twin-bill with the Maroons on May 2. At home the Pumas will play Lewis on May 3, only to move on to Valpo the following day for a game with their arch-rivals, the Crusaders. The eight-game schedule in 13 days will certainly tell whether or not the St. Joe pitching staff has what it takes.

Softball Grabs IM Attention

Keith Forton's Drexel Epars have jumped off to a lead in first round competition in the 12-inch intramural softball league by notching three consecutive wins. The Clovers, last year's winners, have played only one game, winning that impressively. Over in the 16-inch circuit, the Chi-Townites have gone undefeated in three contests; but they are being closely followed by Ziggy's Piggy's with two wins and no defeats and the Poor Bachelors, who won their only start.

Standings:

12-inch League	W	L
Drexel Epars	3	0
Clovers	1	0
Renssultuckians	2	2
Cosmopolitans	1	1
Ziggy's Piggy's	0	2
Seifert Sox	0	2

16-inch	W	L
Chi-Townites	3	0
Ziggy's Piggy's	2	0
Poor Bachelors	1	0
Fence Busters	1	2
Blacksheep	1	2
Zak's Team	0	2

It's not even close as Puma first sacker Skip Meyer gobbles up another of second baseman Smoky Smolar's throws to put the Chicago U. runner out. St. Joe blasted the Maroons twice in these opening contests.

WORDS FROM THE CRITICS

It's a play that arouses a genuine affection—it's so generous, so touching and withal so funny . . . written with an appealing honesty that lingers long in the mind and . . . Mr. John Patrick has not found it necessary to include the barrack-room taint to the dialogue.

—E. Van Rensselaer Wyatt
Catholic World

As theatre Mr. Patrick's play is undeniably irresistible . . . One of the most moving of the season's offerings.

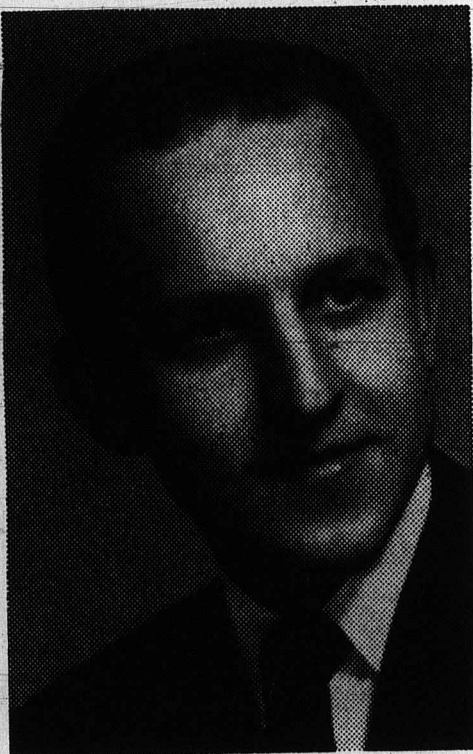

—John Mason Brown
Saturday Review of Literature

A fine, funny, strangely fascinating play. Tense, touching and tender.

—New York Journal-American

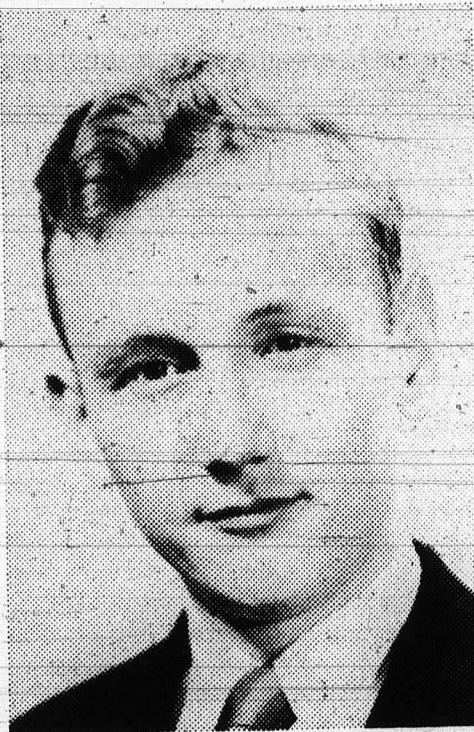

ABOUT THE PLOT

The scene is a convalescent ward in a British Military Hospital in Burma during the war. The convivial company consists of Yank, an American; Tommy, an Englishman; Digger, an Australian; Blossom, an African Basuto; Kiwi, a New Zealander; and a pretty nurse, Sister Margaret. This group is soon joined by a dour, forbidding, extremely independent Scot, Lachlen McLachlen, who doesn't know that he has only a few weeks to live. The play concerns the attempts of Sister Margaret and her men to break down the barriers of reserve and suspicion which "Lachie" has built around himself. Ultimately, prompted by the companionship of his newly-found friends in the ward, Lachie learns the lesson of love for his neighbors. Although a war story, "The Hasty Heart" is as up-to-date as the day it was written.

Study Habit Improving Service Made Available to St. Joe Men

St. Joe students can now participate, without added charge, in a newly instituted service to improve their study habits.

The program, in addition to the individual counseling, testing, and other student services already in practice, fulfills more completely the college's policy of attending to the academic needs of each student, stated the Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, president of St. Joseph's.

Offered through the facilities of the Reading and Study Clinic, the new service affords to students who need it an opportunity for supervised study and tutorial help.

Administered by specially trained personnel, assistance is given through any one of three plans:

1) The Referral Service—A student referred to the Clinic by his counselor or instructor may solicit aid at any time during Clinic hours, which are from 9:00 a. m. to 11:00 p. m., Monday through Friday. Under this plan the counselor or instructor diagnoses the problem and prescribes the kind and degree of assistance required.

2) The Developmental Service—A student who desires an analysis of his study habits and an improvement in his study skills may request such aid from the Clinic staff.

3) The Corrective Service—A student on probation is advised by the Dean to register for the special improvement course conducted during the obligatory study period each evening. In this course the student is given tutorial instruction in his problem areas.

Honor students and seniors preparing for the teaching profession assist the Clinic staff voluntarily with this phase of the program.

In addition to this tutorial assistance and testing administered by the staff, the student also receives training on the electric accelerator, to stimulate faster reading; and on the tachistoscope, or flash meter, to train his eye to see more words and numbers in a single fixation.

At the present time, clinic equipment includes five accelerators and two tachistoscopes.

Admission Applications Double Those of 1952

Applications for admission to St. Joseph's are approximately double those at this same time last year, registrar Mr. James R. Bogan recently stated. This is a trend noted in several colleges throughout the country, he explained.

The registrar's office has set as dates for entrance examinations June 20, July 18, Aug. 8, and Sept. 5. These examinations will be given on campus to those prospective students not meeting the requirements of admission by certificate. Special exams-by-mail may also be given those who live more than 300 miles from Collegeville.

Selective Service changes and outlooks will be explained by Mr. Bogan to the student body at a convocation in the near future. Also planned is a survey of the student body as to draft status in order to better help the mailing of forms to Selective Service boards.

Father Heiman Representative At Convention

St. Joe music and speech instructor, the Rev. Lawrence F. Heiman, will be the local representative at the national convention of the Catholic Music Educators Association in Atlanta, Ga., May 3-7.

Father Heiman, an active member of the CMEA, is one of two candidates nominated for the office of national second vice-president. This office is the second-most important nationally, the retiring president automatically becoming first vice-president.

Father Heiman will also be one of three panel speakers on the topic: "The Role of Choral Singing in the Liberal Arts Program."

He is a member of the 12-man National Executive Committee, the highest governing body in the CMEA; a member of the National Board of Directors, advisory to the Executive Committee; and the only person in the country to be on both groups. He is also on the Student Membership Committee and the staff of the CMEA Bulletin.

On the state level, Father Heiman is president of the Indiana Unit of the CMEA. This unit consists of approximately 200 colleges, university, high school, and elementary school teachers in the state.

SJC President Attends Meeting

A nation-wide convention of 33 state Associated College groups met in Indianapolis April 13-15. St. Joseph's president, the Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, represented the college. The meeting was held primarily to exchange ideas and to get uniformity of action. St. Joseph's belongs to the associated Colleges of Indiana, the Hoosier segment of this group.

A week earlier, from April 7-10, Father Gross attended the National Catholic Educators' Association Commission meeting in Atlantic City, N. J. The meeting was the organization's 50th annual session.

Golfers Tom Everling and Tom Powell tee off in a practice session with the team. The linksmen opened their season successfully with a conquest of Bellarmine.

High School Students Plan Campus Retreat

Some 50 high school students of the Lafayette diocese and the surrounding area will encamp on St. Joe grounds this weekend for their annual spring retreat. The director is the Rev. Richard P. Baird; the retreat master, the Rev. Edwin G. Kaiser. Both priests are members of the local faculty.

The program begins Friday evening with opening devotions at 7:30. A conference and confessions will close the day. On Saturday a Mass, a sermon, a question box, and another sermon will provide the morning fare. In the afternoon after a two-hour recreation period, there will be more sermons, separated by another question box. Saturday evening, devotions, a conference, a sermon, and confessions will close the day's activities.

Prom Activity Continues To Work Out Blue Theme

Christmas tree bulbs are blooming out of season in the fieldhouse these days. The occasion is Junior Prom activity by the decorating crew of the Prom, which at present is engaged in stringing strands of blue bulbs across the ceiling of the gym in preparation for the Big Event May 9.

The bulbs are arranged to further the "Serenade in Blue" illusion and will be used in lieu of the customary false ceiling. The bulbs serve the double purpose of hiding the true rafters from view and also of providing enough light for the dancing couples.

Scene to be Decided

Among the final decisions to be made concerns the scene of after-dance activity Saturday night. A proposed supper party in Raleigh Hall with professional entertainment is being given serious thought.

As for the rest of the weekend, the men of Lake County, through their club, will inaugurate the festivities with a hayride Friday, May 2, from about 8:00 to 10:00 p. m. An informal dance is slated afterwards. Saturday's schedule includes the St. Joe-Indiana State double-header in the afternoon, the Prom, and the supper party.

Two-Tone Scheme

For the Prom, in keeping with the theme, a two-tone blue color scheme will be employed, with crepe-papered walls. A six-foot overhanging structure on the sides of the main court walls will hide the fieldhouse seats from view.

Playing the music will be Dick Carlton and his orchestra, "America's Smartest Music." Guests of honor who have replied favorably to bids for attendance include Rep. Charles Halleck, majority whip of the House; Judge Moses Leopold and Mayor Emil Hanley of Rensselaer.

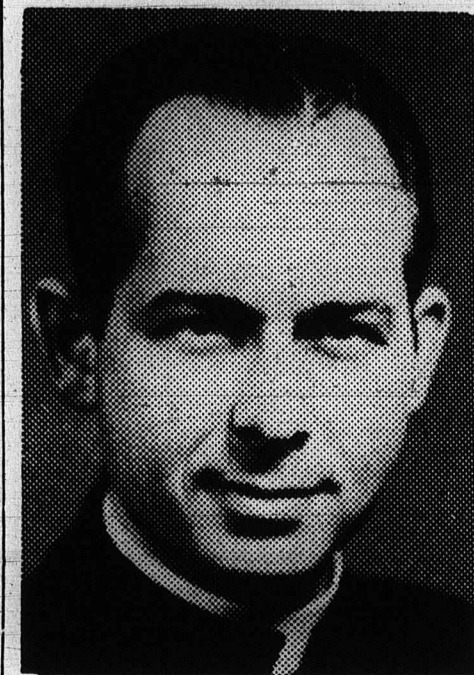

Splendor Receives Attention

The Prom-goer's sartorial splendor has received attention within the past week. Flowers chairman Bill Frombgen has announced that orders will be taken in the cafeteria, beginning tomorrow. Tuxedo measurements for one of three possible outfits were taken April 14.

The hosts and hostesses for the Prom will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scharf and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kelly.

Students Battle Again Saturday For Scholarship

The St. Joseph's scholarship examination will be given again this coming Saturday at seven locations. They are: Leo High School, Chicago; Mater Dei High School, Evansville; Bishop Noll High School, Hammond; St. Mary High School, Akron, Ohio; St. Philip High School, Battle Creek, Mich.; St. Xavier High School, Louisville, and St. Joseph's College.

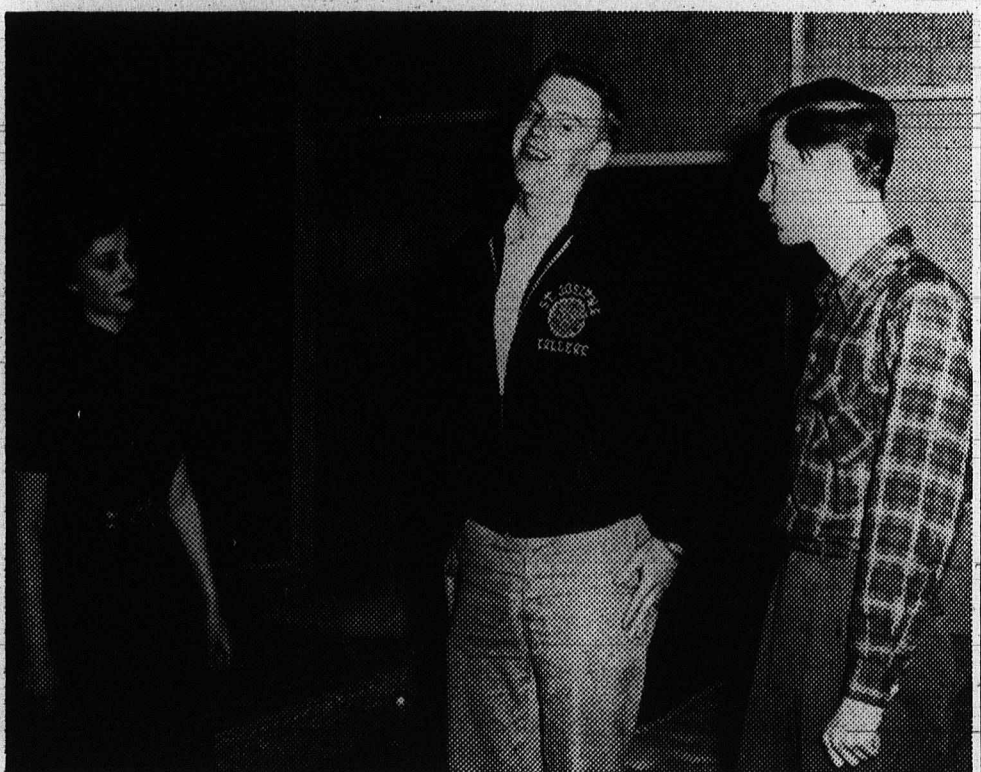

The examination was administered at six examination centers including Collegeville last Saturday. Other centers were: Fenwick High School, Oak Park, Ill.; Spalding Institute, Peoria; Cathedral School, Indianapolis; St. Rose High School, Lima, Ohio; and St. Joseph's High School, Decatur, Ind. The examination had previously been given at five other centers.

A total of more than 230 high school seniors are expected to vie for $27,400 in scholarships, including ten full-tuition scholarships, five honor scholarships of $1000 each, five honor scholarships of $800 each, and ten award scholarships of $400 each.

Former President Gets Seminary Appointment

The Rev. Alfred J. Zanolar, former president of St. Joseph's, was recently appointed rector of Brunnerdale Seminary, Canton, Ohio.

Father Zanolar was president of St. Joseph's from 1948 to 1951 and assistant dean from 1937 to Jack Carlson apparently finds something funny in this scene from "The Hasty Heart," but Beverly Sterrett and Don Stazy do not seem to share the mirth.

Special papers are being handed nurse Beverly Sterrett by orderly John Good. The subject, Dick Kotheimer, studies the camera-man with fixed eye throughout the whole transaction. He is not worried as to its outcome; he has read the script.

Pipe, Broom, 'Coffee Grounds,' Senior Activities Symbols of Collegeville Janitor For Final Weeks

By BILL FEELY

An old pipe, a broom and quantities of "coffee grounds," the aroma of which permeates the air, indicate to the wide-awake St. Joe man the presence of Nick, the time-honored janitor of Science Hall.

Nick, full name Nicholas Hoffman, was born in 1880 in Madison, Ind., right on the Ohio River. One of a family of seven, his brothers and sisters are all still living. He was educated at St. Mary's High School in Madison and first came to St. Joe in 1938 when Father Scheidler, then economist here, asked him to come. Since then Nick has watched St. Joe grow from a two- to four-year college, and has viewed the parade of college presidents and students as they came, ruled and departed.

Most Unforgettable

His most unforgettable experience came in 1945 at Homecoming time, when the celebration started off with a bang: somebody had poured too much gasoline on the pile as a start. When the bonfire was lit, the explosion blasted most of the windows in Science Hall. Nick was showered with broken glass, but emerged without a scratch.

At 73 Nick says he is in perfect health. He never has been in the hospital or had an operation during the 15 years he has been here. In all this time he has missed only ten days on the job because of sickness.

Three Hobbies

In his own words his hobbies are to "sleep, eat, and read the paper." Each and every night it's Benediction in the college chapel and then back to his room in the powerhouse ready for rest and another day's toil. When asked what he thought of the students, he said: "Well, you know, boy, just like all people, there's some good and some bad, but the bad ones don't last long at St. Joe."

Thus, while ordinarily an incessant rumble and a strange aroma might remind most people of an approaching storm, to a St. Joe man it means just one thing—Nick, the Collegeville Janitor is still on the job.

Geology Club Program Stresses Student Aid

At recent meetings of the Geology Club, attempts have been made to better acquaint the student with the modern problems of geology. The students themselves have undertaken the task of reviewing the more important articles found in geology magazines and putting them into condensed form to give the students a wider viewpoint of the field.

At the last meeting of the club, guest speaker Don Murray addressed the members on "The Mineralogy of Clay Minerals" and the practical aspects of clay mineralogy as exemplified by the joint work of the Indiana State Survey and Geology Department of Indiana University.

The spring field trip has been scheduled for Saturday and Sunday. It will include visits to Turkey Run and Shades State Park.

Science Exhibits Presented Early

Getting back to a practice abandoned several years ago, this year's Science Day program was held last Sunday, the first time that it has not been in conjunction with Parents' Day since 1949.

The main object of interest open to St. Joe students and visitors were the science exhibits; tours of these were held throughout the afternoon. In the evening, the combined glee clubs of the College of St. Francis and St. Joseph's presented their annual spring concert in the College Theater.

On the itinerary of the Science Day tours were the following items of interest: a talk on various mathematical curiosities; physics demonstrations of the Tesla coil, induction coils, a thermacouple, an historical exhibit of lighting, and a demonstration of the stroboscope; geological explanations of the Geiger counter and rock cutting and exhibits of other phases of the subject; chemical presentations of numerous curiosities; and biological demonstrations of the turtle heart, and exhibits of specimens and the microscope.

After the tours of the labs, a biology movie and slides from the Geology Department's field trip to the Southwest last summer were shown.

Now Being Planned

Graduating seniors of the class of '53 head into their final month-and-a-half with plans for their concluding period being well underway.

Today, the seniors marched in academic procession at 11:00 a. m. from the Administration Building to the chapel, where a Solemn Pontifical High Mass was offered. Previous to today, on April 10-11, graduate record examinations were the main object of interest.

Coming up are two academic hurdles. May 9 is the deadline for research papers for honor courses, at which time the completed paper must be in the hands of the major professor. Two typewritten final copies must be submitted by June 1. On May 22-23 comprehensive examinations will be held. The seniors are excused from all classes during the period May 14-22 to study for these comprehensives.

Graduation itself occurs June 7 at 2:00 p. m., at which time Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago will be the main speaker. The day before, June 6, the seniors will be initiated as alumni here. Final details are to be ironed out by a meeting of the alumni association in the near future.

Commerce Club Decides Award

Elections for the Father Gordon Memorial Award were conducted by members of the Commerce Club at their last meeting April 13. The winning senior was chosen on the first ballot but his identity will be kept a secret until the club's annual banquet, May 11, in the college dining room. Al Kanne, local restaurateur, was also selected as the honorary club member for the year.

At the banquet those who have been members of the Club for at least four semesters will be awarded their Commerce Club keys. Guest speaker will be Mr. John Reitz, an ex-insurance man now residing in Rensselaer.

The high point of the next meeting May 4 will be the election of next year's officers.

The club's annual picnic is scheduled for today, at Lake Freeman, near Monticello. The members will leave the campus around 1:30 this afternoon.

Glee Club Concert Tour Includes Region Program

Approximately ten hours of solid singing face local Glee Club members within the next month.

Fortunately for the Collegeville warblers, this effort will not occur all at once, but will be spread over a period of 11 and possibly 12 concerts. The biggest day will be this Friday, when Father Lawrence Heiman's charges entertain three high schools in the Whiting-Hammond area in programs totaling two hours. The targets will be Bishop Noll High School in Hammond, which will receive two half-hour shots of local talent; Whiting High School; and Hammond George Rogers Clark. The last two will be the recipients of one half-hour program apiece.

As a respite from their labors, the club members will be guests that evening of the Lake County Alumni of St. Joseph's in the Panel Room of St. John's School, Whiting. A short program will be presented at this time.

Sing Today

Warming up for their extended billings, the Gleemen sing this afternoon at a special Alumni Day banquet in honor of Bishop Joseph M. Marling of Kansas City, who is being awarded an honorary degree by the college.

Prior to this, the club members joined voices with the women of the College of St. Francis, the members of the Calumet Center Ensemble, and the men of the Xavier Seminarian Choir, in a two-hour Music Festival last Sunday. Program details are presented elsewhere in this issue.

One Day of Rest

Only one day's rest is in store for the group after its concerts in the Region Friday. This Sunday the 50-man chorus will jog up to Pulaski for an hour-long concert. It will be their second consecutive annual appearance for the pastor, the Rev. Cyril Ernst, C.P.P.S. Last year Father Ernst was pastor of St. Joseph's in Wapakoneta, Ohio, one of the points visited by the club on its eastern tour last spring.

A week later, on Parents' Day May 3, mothers and fathers of Glee Club singers will be able to see their proteges in a half-hour presentation in the fieldhouse. May 9, the alumni of Brook High School will be entertained at the nearby town for some 40 minutes.

The foreseeable schedule will close Sunday, May 17, at Joliet, with a repetition of much of last Sunday's Festival before the populace of the Illinois city.

Spring Festival Held on Campus

By JIM O'BRIEN

The annual Spring Music Festival was presented last Sunday evening in the College Theater. St. Joseph's Glee Club, the Glee Club of the College of St. Francis, (Joliet) and the Calumet Center Ensemble combined their forces under the direction of the Rev. Lawrence Heiman to present a full program containing 23 selections in all.

To start the show, the local Glee Club sang three new numbers: "Wanderin'," "With a Song in My Heart," and "Brothers, Sing On!"

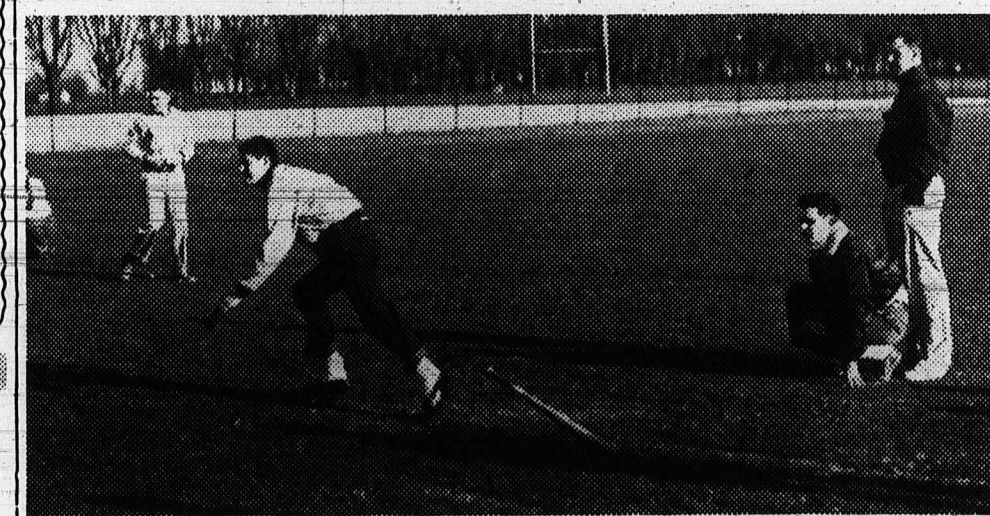

Immediately afterward, the girls of St. Francis followed with "Andalucia," "Such Lovely Things," and "A Spirit Flower." Soloist Patricia McAllister contributed "Spring in My Heart."

The 100-voice St. Joe College Concert Chorus closed the first half of the program with "The Halls of Ivy," "Song of the Treader," "Where You There?" and "Terra Tremuit."

After intermission the program continued with the St. Francis Glee Club. They were followed by a Choral Ensemble taken from both the St. Joe Glee Club and the seminarian choir, which sang "Stodola Pampa," and "Dry Bones."

At this point in the show a trio of the St. Francis singers, Alice Audrieth, Patricia McAllister, and Angeline Stein, sang the Card Scene from Carmen. Joan Zullo, likewise from the Joliet school, then soloed for "Lucy's Aria," from The Telephone by Menotti.

When both choral groups had demonstrated their individual worth, they combined with the Calumet Center Ensemble to form the Mixed Chorus under the baton of Father Heiman. The selections of this group included the "Italian Street Song," "Drinking Song" from Student Prince, "Oklahoma," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Miss Bette Furiak of the center was soloist for the "Italian Street Song."

Bill Lamb takes off for first after connecting for a hit in an intramural softball contest. Al Feller watches the action, and catcher Frank Klopp seems a little peeved, but ump Fred Handler will call the right decision.
